To: Heads of Department and Human Resources
From: Head of Human Resources
Confidential: not for display or forwarding

The disciplinary procedure changes from 1 September 2025. A disciplinary hearing is held within 10 working days of the charge letter. A written warning stays on the file for 12 months and a final written warning for 24 months. A manager may suspend a staff member on full pay for up to 30 days while an allegation of gross misconduct is investigated.

Cases involving fraud are passed to the Special Investigations Unit before any hearing is set. Human Resources keeps the register of cases. Managers must not discuss a case outside the people named in the file.
