Anti-Money-Laundering Policy: Summary

Summary for branch managers and compliance officers. The full policy is held by the Money Laundering Reporting Officer (MLRO).

1. Cash transaction reports

A cash deposit or withdrawal of UGX 20,000,000 or more, or the equivalent in foreign currency, in one day is reported to the MLRO by the end of the next working day.

2. Suspicious transactions

Any member of staff who suspects money laundering reports it to the MLRO within 24 hours using the internal suspicion form. The MLRO decides whether to file a report with the Financial Intelligence Authority. Staff must not tell the customer that a report has been made.

3. Customer risk rating

Every customer is rated low, medium or high at account opening and again at each information refresh. High risk customers include politically exposed persons and cash-intensive businesses.

4. Mobile money agents

An agent who handles more than UGX 30,000,000 of float in a day is monitored weekly. Agents who split large transactions into small ones to avoid reports are suspended.

5. Training and records

Every employee completes AML training once a year. Reports and supporting records are kept for 10 years.
